01 THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S INITIATIVE (YPI) PRAGATI

3683 adolescent girls (10 – 15 year) in schools and communities in Mumbai, Delhi and Bengaluru have participated in YPI Pragati, Maitrayana's netball and life skills programme. It consists of 27 lifeskills- and 27 netball sessions which have been conducted during the academic cycle 2023 – 2024. The girls have completed all four modules of Maitrayana's curriculum Be Yourself, Be Healthy, Be Empowered and Be Money Savvy.

They have played an internal netball tournament in their school/community and a representative participated in Udaan, a tournament for all YPI Pragati sites in their respective cities. Girls have graduated from the programme in February/March. About 700 YPI alumni will continue playing netball in 2024 – 2025.

Among the participants, 184 adolescent girls have been elected as leaders by their peers in YPI Pragati. Staff has guided this process and trained the young leaders in their roles and responsibilities as well as the 'action projects' methodology. These are projects that the leaders have implemented in their schools/communities in which they have addressed issues that they face in their schools/communities such as lack of clean water or clean toilets in the school/sites, changing rooms etc. During their graduation, the leaders presented their projects. They shared the problems that they had identified, how they have addressed them and what the results where.

As part of Maitrayana's young women's leadership pathway, 34 Community Sports Coaches (CSCs) were selected and trained to co-facilitate sessions with participants in YPI Pragati & the clubs. Most of the CSCs are alumni from YPI Pragati and this year saw an increased number of (former) club leaders who continued their journey as interns as CSCs.

The CSCs participated in sessions to develop their hard skills (English and computer skills in Delhi), soft skills and employability skills. The internship experience was not always an easy one as the young women had to overcome different challenges such as parents not being comfortable with their daughters traveling through the cities during early mornings or in the evenings, and/or having less time for household work etc. All CSCs graduated at the end of the academic cycle/financial year after which new CSCs for the 2024 – 2025 will be recruited.

02 CLUBS

728 club players have come together for weekly practices and monthly league matches led by their club leaders with support from Maitrayana coaches in Delhi and Mumbai. The girls in Bengaluru participated for the first time this year in a one-day tournament.

- The netball clubs are girls' led. In 2023 – 2024, progress has been made by giving girls more opportunities to make decisions about what their club would look like. Elections have been held and the 44 chosen leaders have taken up their roles supported by Maitrayana staff. Besides training in their role, they have been guided in problem solving and conflict management. The club leaders from Delhi, Mumbai and Bangalore have come together online in the National Conference and in person in the different cities. Training sessions for referees and first aiders have been reviewed, made more accessible and useful for young leaders.

03 OLDER GIRLS

In order to build a longer and deeper engagement with adolescent girls and young women, Maitrayana is developing a trajectory for alumni, might or might not be club players, toward the programmes Economic Justice Programme for 18 – 25 year olds. The first module was developed in 2023 – 2024. A series of nine series was developed with as topic Sexual Reproductive Health and Rights with sessions on gender and sexuality, conception, contraception, consent and healthy relationships. The module has successfully been piloted with 60 young women in Delhi and Mumbai

04 ECONOMIC JUSTICE PROGRAMME (EJP)

Two batches with a total of 46 young women have done an internship with Decathlon, the largest, global sports retail company. They learned the essentials of working in the retail sector, including how to handle customers effectively and organize the layout in an organized manner. They had a chance to experience what it is to be part of a workplace culture and to develop professional network contact within Decathlon.

The young women were supported by Maitrayana staff who conducted soft skills sessions with them to support them in overcoming barriers that they face in pursuing their goals, train them in employability skills (such as managing time, giving and receiving feedback, team work etc) and enable them to develop their English speaking and computer skills. The EJP team also offered them job application sessions and individual mentoring.

In this period:

9 young women have secured part-time positions at Decathlon.

5 young women have secured jobs in different sector like: retail, bakery, salon etc.

OBJECTIVE 2

Synergizing with families and communities to build ecosystems in communities to enhance adolescent girls'/young women's outcomes and leadership.

01 PARENTS MEETINGS

Although engaging with parents has always been part of the YPI programme, this year, the first session of the parents' curriculum has been designed and piloted. The curriculum aims at girls and women can use their skills, voice and agency to exercise their rights and fulfil their potential within an understanding and supportive ecosystem.

The objectives were for the parents to understand Maitrayana and the YPI Programme, to start discussions about gender equality and create understanding and support for girls' empowerment through the YPI. Staff was trained and sessions with 503 parents have been held. The sessions have been successful as the responses have been positive and parents were open to discuss the aspirations that they have for their daughters and their lives. The pilot has been reviewed and learnings (regarding recruitment, content, facilitation etc) will be incorporated in the further development of the curriculum which contain of 3 sessions for all parents of YPI Pragati participants.

Clubs leaders have held meetings, with support from Maitrayana staff, within their clubs. The aim was to create an ecosystem of supportive parents by explaining them the purpose of the club, the benefits for their daughters when playing in the club and how it fits into all Maitrayana's activities. About 200 parents have been reached.

02 SAMITI'S

A plan and strategy for the establishment of Samitis has been made and kicked off by the end of 2023 – 2024 in 3 netball clubs in Delhi and Mumbai. Samiti's are platforms to advance girls' outcomes with a focus on increasing girls' access to opportunities and rights and girls' participation as right holders in communities.

In its nature, the samiti's are girls centered, meaning that girls should set the agenda and identify stakeholders for the Samiti. These stakeholders are adults with attitudes, skills and networks to support girls to access opportunities, ensure that their rights are being heard and/or those who are in a position to challenge the current status quo.

03 INTERNATIONAL DAYS

International Days were celebrated with community events such as the International Day of the Girl and International Women's Day with about 300 community members attending. Topics discussed were the importance of investing in girls and women. On March 8, community events were held where female role models in non-traditional professions shared their journeys.

They also stressed the advantages of experiential learning and holistic development. Discussions were held with principals about the role that Maitrayana could play with the National Education Policy implicating that teaching should improve children's life skills as well as that sexual reproductive health and rights needs to be discussed with students.
