

Stitching Masks for the Vulnerable

Introduction:

To say the past few months, have seen people unite in a way that was never experienced before would be an understatement. Uncertainty gripped us all, but the resolve to work together for our mutual benefit kept us going. However, like in every crisis, the most vulnerable amongst us, continue to suffer. At a time when hygiene, clean water and sanitation is the need of the hour, these communities lack basic access to these affordances. Making them even more vulnerable. Add to this, dwindling finances as well as the inability to afford masks, to protect themselves.

Response: Indiadonates partnered with SHG Gulaab in their endeavour to help the people of their community by stitching masks.

Gulaab, Madanpur Khadar New Delhi

Gulaab, is a women-led self-help group, consist of 14 members was formed in March 2014. Gulaab has additionally developed its capacity to take on various community-based issues. Gulaab planned to contribute in Govt. fight against the spread of Covid-19 by contributing stitched cotton Masks for marginalized people and also provision of food/grains to 100 families by 15th May 2020.

Madanpur Khadar is a resettlement colony which houses daily wage earners from different parts of the country. With their modest living condition, many families lack basic sanitation, access to clean water, and hygiene. Since, Gulaab members are based in the target areas that helped them to identify the most vulnerable families among them. So far, Gulaab were able to reach approximately 1000 families directly & Indirectly. Most of the community members are unskilled casual workers and depend on daily wages. After the sudden lockdown began on 24th March 2020, we noticed the following unprecedented humanitarian crisis on ground: -

- Daily earning is stopped
- Most of community members do not have sufficient savings
- Most of the family cannot afford measures that may protect them like sanitizer, sops, mask etc.,
- There imminent likelihood of facing acute food insecurity during this lockdown period
